

Brenntag Nordic EHS Policy

EHS Strategy

- Environmental protection, health protection and safety are all paramount for Brenntag and for preserving natural resources for the long term. If it cannot be done safely, Brenntag will not undertake it.
- In recognition of the Responsible Care / Responsible Distribution program of the International Council of Chemical Trade Associations, Brenntag affirms its commitment to sustainable development and to the eight guiding principles outlined in this worldwide initiative.
- As a global company with more than 300 locations worldwide, Brenntag is conscious of its obligation towards the environment and towards the health and safety of its employees

EHS Policy

- The health and safety of the workers and the communities in which we operate are a principal concern of Brenntag Nordic. We focus on reducing the risk of accidents through the design of safe processes and installations.
- Brenntag Nordic ensures the proper handling of its products while they are under Brenntag's stewardship. This includes procurement, packaging, classification and labeling, handling and storage, possible disposal as well as product dossiers and safety instructions.
- Brenntag Nordic takes all appropriate measures to minimize environmental impacts on the soil, water and air.
- Brenntag Nordic complies with all health, safety and environmental legal requirements, including import and export regulations and marketing and use restrictions in all our operations and sales organizations.
- Brenntag Nordic communicates transparently and maintains an open internal and external dialogue with our employees and stakeholders.
- Brenntag Nordic ensures the necessary knowledge and competence with all employees and promotes an active engagement in EHS matters.
- Brenntag Nordic communicates actively with customers and suppliers to promote development and use of less hazardous products.
